GET reopens on November 1

GET officially reopens to new enrollments and unit purchases on November 1, with a new $113 unit purchase price. New enrollment materials, including the GET enrollment guide, program details, and the enrollment form will be available soon on the GET website. Beginning November 1, current and new customers can start a new enrollment application or add new units to existing accounts online.

Enrollment fee waived for new online enrollments

Starting November 1, customers opening new accounts by enrolling online will notice new enhancements that makes the enrollment process easier than before. Additionally, customers enrolling online will no longer be charged the $50 enrollment fee. The $50 enrollment fee still applies for paper enrollment forms.

Contribute to your existing account

If you want to add new units to your existing account, it's easy to do at any time by visiting the newly updated payment options section of your online GET account. Here you can set up a one-time or recurring automatic withdrawal from your bank account or learn about other payment options.

Savings plan update

By early 2018, we hope to begin offering the DreamAhead College Investment

529 college savings plan that works differently from GET, as investment returns will be tied to financial market performance.

Families interested in saving with DreamAhead will have multiple investment choices with varying degrees of customization and risk. These include "year of enrollment" options that automatically adjust the investment mix as a student gets closer to college age, as well as stand-alone options that give investors flexibility to set and adjust their investment mix as they go.

Continue to check for updates on the GET website.
